HOLY PENANCE

Now that we have finished our examination of conscience, we are ready to begin the Sacrament. We go in and kneel or sit. Every penitent has the choice of confessing anonymously or face to face. If there is a traditional box-style confessional and you wish to confess face-to-face, just ask and the priest will find a place of privacy nearby. If there is a full sized reconciliation room, there should be some kind of arrangement such that you can still confess anonymously. However you choose, the priest will help you. I usually begin with the Sign of the Cross, adding an ancient prayer for the penitent: "May the Lord be in your heart and on your lips, that you may humbly and truthfully confess all your sins." The penitent then begins, "Bless me, Father, for I have sinned. It has been _____ weeks/months/years since my last Confession. These are my sins." Notice that we say, Bless me, Father" and not "Forgive me, Father" because it is not the priest who forgives our sins, but God alone, through the words of the priest. As for the time past since our last Confession, there is no need to be absolutely exact. A general idea is enough. Next, we report our sins as best we can, concealing nothing. Remember, the priest has heard everything; he will not be shocked, so tell him everything. Moreover, priests are poor sinners, too, who have to confess their own sins to another priest. Though they must judge hearts and deeds in their role as confessor, they share the same human weakness we all do. If a priest ever acts or speaks with arrogance in the confessional, he will answer to God for it.

Saint of the Week

1 July

Saint Oliver Plunkett

Oliver was born in 1625 in County Meath, Ireland. At the age of twenty-one he went to Rome, where he was ordained, studied canon law, and lectured in theology. Meanwhile, in Ireland the failure of the 1641 Rebellion had led to persecutions under Cromwell. In 1669, Pope Clement IX named Oliver the Archbishop of Armagh, Primate of All Ireland. Oliver returned to his suffering countrymen. Over the next four years he confirmed almost fifty thousand people, called numerous synods, and refounded the Catholic schools. In 1673 he was forced into hiding, yet his labors did not cease. "We would rather die from hunger and cold than abandon our flocks," he wrote. Oliver was arrested in 1680 and tried for treason at Dundalk, but even the Protestant bishops there knew his character, and he was acquitted. The English then moved him to London and tried him again. This time five apostate priests testified falsely against him. When the verdict was read, the chief justice openly admitted that Oliver's only crime was his Catholic faith. On 1 July 1681, Oliver was dragged on hurdles to Tyburn. "I do forgive all who had a hand directly or indirectly in my death and in my innocent blood," he declared, just before he was hanged, drawn, and quartered.

Saint Oliver Plunkett, pray for us!

Respect Life Ministry

All baptized Christians are called to share the joy of the gospel with others. When most of our co-workers, neighbors, and even family members don't share our faith and perhaps do not practice any faith at all, we might be timid or afraid to talk about our faith. But in a culture filled with so much junk, people are hungry for solid food. When we encounter Jesus Christ, we come to know the bread of life, the truth in which the restless hearts of our age can rest. We love our neighbors by helping them to encounter Jesus.
~USCCB, Serving Others in God's Love, 2018

Respect Life Prayer Intention:

That the Holy Spirit would give us the courage to bear witness to the truth of the Gospel, even in the face of social and legal pressure.
